

CONDO REMODELING

Smooth sailing from start to finish.

Remodeling your condo is no easy feat. It takes a lot of planning, understanding the building rules and the right team. If your contractor isn't a condo specialist you can get yourself into trouble fast. A typical condo remodeling project involves the kitchen, bathroom and overall flooring. Hiring a professional like Moorhead & Company Inc. can make all the difference. The company can help you navigate through the many rules and potential obstacles involved. "We've embraced the challenges and have gotten really good at all the different hurdles and obstacles," says J.R. Moorhead of Moorhead & Company. With all the moving parts to a condo renovation, working with a professional saves you time and money in the long run.

COMPLETE CONDO RENOVATION

When homeowners partner with Moorhead & Company, they have the advantage of only dealing with one team. The company makes remodeling the entire condo one streamlined project. Moorhead & Company can help you navigate your building rules and figure out where to get your products. From the beginning, the company prides itself on taking care of its clients. "We create a relationship with our clients before we even start the project. We spend the time to understand our clients wants and needs" says Moorhead. "We anticipate any hiccups and unforeseen obstacles before they happen. We don't want our clients to have any change orders."

DESIGN OPPORTUNITIES

Clients often come with ideas of what they desire in their homes, like the floors, cabinets and countertops. The team at Moorhead & Company asks homeowners the right questions to determine the value and budget and points them in the right direction. The company has the advantage of knowledge and experience from doing so many condo remodels. "Each building is unique and has different rules and requirements. We have done so many condo renovations, that we anticipate obstacles and know what to look for and what questions to ask," says Moorhead. "Part of our value is we have relationships with different businesses locally and can steer you in the right direction so that you get the product and quality that you're looking for, at the price you are looking to spend."
